

COMMA TIP 7

Know the difference between so and so that before you add a comma.

So, a coordinating conjunction, can join two main clauses¹. The pattern looks like this:

MAIN CLAUSE + , + so + MAIN CLAUSE .

Katherine recently adopted a Great Dane puppy, so she spends considerable time wiping up puddles of dog urine with a sponge.

Mike agreed to help Helen move to her new apartment, so he spent Saturday lifting heavy furniture and struggling with unwieldy boxes.

Johnny drives an ancient Buick with no air conditioning, so he must use the strongest antiperspirant on the market.

So that, on the other hand, is a subordinate conjunction that introduces a subordinate clause.² The pattern looks like this:

MAIN CLAUSE + ∅ + so that + SUBORDINATE CLAUSE .

The new puppy whines pathetically so that Katherine will let it sleep on the bed.

Mike soaked in a hot bath so that his aching back would relax.

During the summer, Johnny drives with a big cup of ice so that he doesn't overheat and pass out in the hot car.

So that can confuse writers because the that is optional. When the that is missing, don't mistake so that for so, thus adding incorrect punctuation.

Angie peeled away the crispy chicken skin so [or so that] she could later eat a brownie without concerns about the calories.

Before beginning his daydream, Frank opened his literature book so [or so that] he appeared to be paying attention to the discussion.

Unconcerned about small children or kittens, Carlotta recklessly sped through the residential neighborhood so [or so that] she would be home in time to watch Buffy the Vampire Slayer, her favorite TV show.

¹ A main clause follows this pattern: subject + verb = complete thought. Every sentence must contain at least one main clause.

² A subordinate clause follows this pattern: subordinate conjunction + subject + verb ≠ complete thought.

Quick Test

Directions: Add commas where they are necessary.

1. Robbie bought a small microwave for his first apartment □ so he could cook popcorn and macaroni and cheese, the only meals he could afford.
2. Sylvia wore flat shoes on her date with Tony □ so she wouldn't intimidate this short young man with her height.
3. Yuko bought a small aquarium and some goldfish □ so her apartment wouldn't feel so lonely.
4. Patrick always carries an English handbook with him, even to basketball games □ so that he can check other people's grammar wherever he goes.
5. Rachel neglected to make her car payment three months in a row □ so she must hide her car in friends' garages in an attempt to foil the repo man.
